Lucile Blackwell Kile

Lucile Blackwell Kile, widely known as Knoxville's "Violet Lady", died at 4:30 p.m. yesterday at her home 3000 A Woodglen Drive. She was 49.

The wife of Lester L. Mrs. Kile underwent an operation for cancer nine months ago but had been in steadily declining health since. Tribute To Joel West Flood

Joel West Flood was born in Appomattox County, Virginia, August 2, 1894, into a family long known for its participation in public affairs and its devotion to the general welfare and progress of the county, state and nation. It was a natural sequence that he should elect to follow in the footsteps of his distinguished forebears.

He was the son of the late Major Joel Walker Flood, an outstanding citizen of this county; a lawyer, a major on the staff of General Kemper, CSA, a member of the Legislature of Virginia, a very successful farmer and a large landowner. He was a half brother of the late Henry de la Warr Flood, Commonwealth Attorney of Appomattox County for a number of years, a State Senator, Congressman, and one of the foremost Virginians of his day.

Joel West Flood took his academic training at the Appomattox High School and Washington and Lee University, and his law course at the University of Virginia. After service overseas in the 80th Division in World War I, he attended Oxford University and the Inns of Court, London. He began the practice of law in Appomattox in 1919. He became Commonwealth Attorney of the County by 1919 which responsible position he held until 1932. He was a Colonel on the staff of Governor Harry F. Trinkle and from 1920 to 1932 was a special assistant to the Virginia Attorney General.

In November, 1932, he was elected to fill out the unexpired term of the Honorable H. St. George Tucker as Congressman from the 10th District of Virginia, a position once held by his brother, Hal D. Flood, for a period of twenty years.

In all of these public offices he served diligently, faithfully and with distinguished ability.

In 1939 he was appointed an assistant Federal District Attorney for the Western District of Virginia and served in that capacity until his election in 1940 as Judge of the 24th Judicial Circuit comprised of the counties of Appomattox, Buckingham, Cumberland, Prince Edward and Charlotte. He was elected to this position by the legislature of Virginia. He served as Judge for twenty-four years up to the time of his death, April 27, 1964. His record as a Judge was outstanding. To the judgeship he brought a high concept of the responsibilities and the duties of office. His thorough legal training, his long experience as a practicing attorney and his natural ability amply qualified him for the office. The prime duty of a judge is, of course, to see that justice is done according to the laws of the land. This he constantly sought to do regardless of popular opinion or prejudiced sentiment.

Joel Flood was a man of fine and tender feelings, a kind and generous heart and a loyal friend. He was greatly interested in the affairs, problems, hopes and ambitions of young people and especially was he concerned with underprivileged boys who needed guidance and help. He gave generously of his time and resources in matters of charitable need and to such an extent and in such a manner that the public knew little of it.

As a practicing attorney and a Judge, he was always considerate of young lawyers just beginning to practice. He has, on occasions, directed practice to them as an act of encouragement.

He was a member of the Vestry of St. Ann's Episcopal Church, Appomattox, Virginia. He was active in civic affairs and was past president of the Appomattox Historical Park Association and the Appomattox Lions Club. Whenever there was a hard job of solicitation to be done for a good cause, he was usually selected for the post. He did not hesitate to accept and press hard for the goal set and generally went beyond it. Whatever task or cause he undertook he best all of his energies and resources to see it through.

He was independent in his thinking, but cautiously considerate of the thinking and beliefs of those who did not agree with

Appomattox County Library

The Appomattox County Library will be open during the summer months Monday through Friday 9:00 a.m. — 4:00 p.m. Mrs. Conner will be in charge of the library and will welcome "vacation" readers. Robert McCloskey says: "Vacation readers have more fun than anyone except other vacation readers".

At the present time, we are pleased to have an exhibit of eight paintings which were done by Mrs. Roy Moon. The eight which are executed in oil portray one still life, two snow scenes; one water and boat scene; one a landscape; two clown caricatures; and one religious scene of Christ in Gethsemane.

The Newberry Award winner for 1964 has just been announced — it is entitled: It's Like This Cat by Emily Neville— A story of a young teen-ager, Dave Mitchell, fourteen years old, who acquires a cat— It is a story told with a great deal of insight into human relationships between Father and son.

The Caldecott Winner for the best picture book for the "young fry" for 1964 is Where the Wild Things Are by Maurice Sendak, author-illustrator. It is about a little boy,punished by isolation for his naughty "wildness" who dreams up the idea of sailing away in a private boat — full of imagination and chilhood humor.

A total of 18,143 books have been circulated from the Appomattox County Library since June 1963. This represents an increase of 1,107 over the previous year. In addition to this, 466 films, slides and records have been circulated.

Several young people in the county schools have kept an accumulative record of the number of books which they have read during the school year. A special word of recognition goes to the following:

Spout Spring School: Judy Chamberlain, 7th grade read 175; Sandra Franklin, 6th grade read 80; Frank Torrence, 5bt grade read 100; Bridget Martin, 4th grade read 199; Bobby Layne, 3rd grade read 163.

Vera School: Kathy Ferguson 8th grade read 79; Dennis Doss grade, 30; Lynn Martin 6th inson 4th grade read 49; Debbie Reynolds 3rd grade read 74.

Oakville School: Joan Nash 7th grade 15; Mary Harvey 5th grade 35; Hazel Moore 4th grade 34; Ronnie Marsh 3rd grade 46; Patricia Whitehead 2nd grade 100 or more.

Others have done well in their reading records, but for lack of space we shall not be able to print their names.

Abbitt Cites VA's Economic Growth

AMELIA — Rep. Watkins M. Abbitt, D-Va., said Saturday Virginia's current rate of economic growth will be greatly expanded in the years ahead because the state offers much to the tourist industrialist and average citizen.

Abbitt said Virginia's record of progress in recent years has been impressive and even more can be done if the state and her people will promote the Old Dominion in every possible way.

Abbitt, speaking at activities ment ceremonies for the Virginia Laminating Co., said it is not true "that other states are rushing ahead while we idle at the post."

Virginia, he said, is interested in promoting progress, but not at the expense of future generations. He praised the state's payas-you-go police and contrasted it to the federal government's policy of "Tax and spend, spend and tax."
